

I am in sales and travel to several cities in the north east. Since the travel and weather channels have been added to my XMRadio, I find it much easier to plan my trips and manage my driving time more effectively. I am not surprised to hear of corporate lobbyists hired by big business to talk our government into invading our lives and stifling innovative competition. Nor would I be surprised if the government complies with the lobbyists wishes. Do the right thing, allow competition to grow America. It is incumbent on you to error on the side of small business and more competition, not the other way around.
